Two Local Men Among Top Laguna Seca Race Drivers This Week End

Forty thousand persons are expected to see top sports car drivers from all over the United States, including two local men, compete in the Laguna Seca Invitational Road Races this week end.

The 16-race event will be the tenth sports car race program at the Fort Ord track; the seventeenth on the Monterey Peninsula. Eight qualifying races will be run the first day; eight final races the second. For the first time, motorcycle riders have been invited to compete.

Pete Lovely of Seattle, winner of the inaugural Laguna Seca race in 1957, will return to drive in this year's event. He will compete with three of this country's top Formula Junior drivers. Two are Ed Leslie of Carmel Valley and Jack Flaherty of Pebble Beach. The third is Pat Pigott of Bellingham, Washington, who has a string of victories yet to be equalled in Pacific Coast competition.

The most powerful racing organization in the United States, the Rosebud Racing Team of Victoria, Texas, is sending three machines to Laguna Seca. They are a Lotus Monte Carlo and a pair of Lotus Mark XX single seat cars.

California's top sports car driver, Bill Krause, will race a Tipo 61 Maserati Birdcage; Don Hulette of Van Nuys, a Jag-Corvette; Frank Crane of Burlingame, a Buick Lotus; John Masterson of Ventura, a Porsche RS-60; Ken Miles of England, a Sunbeam Alpine.

The Laguna Seca Race is a Pacific Coast championship point event, so classified by the Sports Car Club of America.

A great part of the proceeds from the event will support local charities. Last October 22 local non-profit groups earned more than $14,000 for community projects, according to O. J. Plummer, Jr., of Monterey, SCRAMP president. These groups provide working personnel for the Laguna Seca Race and are reimbursed through commissions on sales at their concessions.

One of these groups this week end will be the Carmel Youth Center which will have its three green and white striped food concession trailers prominently parked about the race area.

Practice racing starts at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. At 1:30 in the afternoon the first qualifying race will be run. On Sunday, practice begins at 9:00 o'clock; first race at 10:40.

Children under 12 years of age are admitted free. There will be free parking provided near the course.

Mayor Of Willows Recalls Days Of Pal, Our Four-Legged Hero

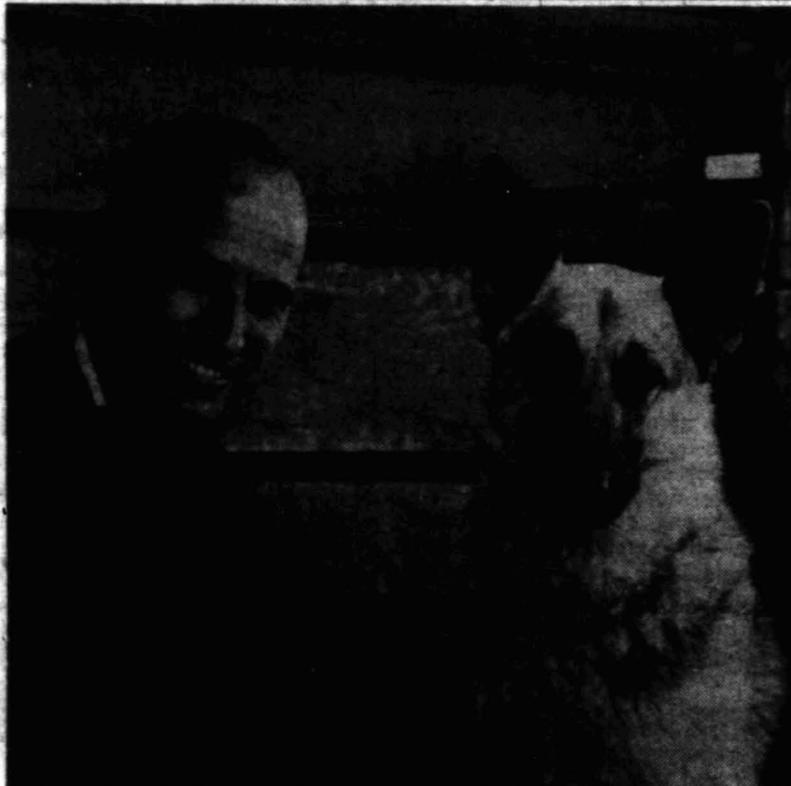

The Mayor of Willows, King Mederos, is visiting here until Saturday renewing friendships made in Carmel over a half a century.

But one of his dearest friends is buried at the Forest Theater under a 1,000 pound stone monument inscribed with "Here lies Pal—The friend of all who knew and loved him—Carmel's dog—Born?"

Died December 12, 1943.

Mr. Mederos, now a rice rancher and natural gas well owner in Northern California, in May was elected to his second two-year term as the mayor of Willows.

Whether Downcoast Or In Alaska, Tony Zufich Likes Untouched Places, Seeks Conservation Of Pico Blanco

BY VALENTINE MILLER

Anthony Zufich, who likes to live in places that have plenty of space around them, and whose home is above Palo Colorado Canyon, is headed back to Alaska again; but this time not on his own, and only for the summer. He will be conducting a couple of bus-loads of a dozen to 14 high-school-age boys on what must surely be every boy's dream of a vacation: two months of camping in the Alaskan wilderness.

The campers will follow the route of the 1898 gold rush; "float" the Yukon river; visit Dawson City, now restored as a Klondike museum piece; catch salmon as long as an arm; get within hailing distance of caribou, moose, and bear. They will visit Mt. McKinley National Park; see the Mendenhall Glacier; eat fresh king crab on the Kenai Peninsula.

Zufich has always had a hankering for untouched places. That's why he spent five years in Alaska after Army service and college. That's why he has been living down the coast in the remote headwaters region of Rocky Creek, on 280 acres he owns bordering the Ventana mountain wilderness, and reached by way of upper Palo Colorado canyon. That's why he wants to go back to Alaska, to take some boys with him, and to show them what a wild country looks like before it, too, has become completely tamed.

Tony Zufich's love of the outdoors goes back to a boyhood officially lived in Watsonville, but spent as much as possible hiking in the Santa Lucia mountains of central and southern Monterey county. His grandfather, Carl Rappe, came from Germany to Watsonville (Continued on Page Thirteen)

THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to extend my thanks to my many friends for the wonderful support I received in the Primary election. Not only was this support a decisive factor in the final result, but it was a positive endorsement of my tenure as Chief of Police of Carmel. With this support I can look forward to the coming November election with great confidence. —Clyde Klaumann.

Council Decides To Tax Tourist Accommodations

Carmel decided last night to tax her tourists four per cent on sleeping accommodations in hotels, motels and lodging houses, and perhaps to use some of the tax money for off-street parking.

The 3-2 action, taken at city council meeting last night, reverses a decision against the much-discussed room tax made by last fall's council.

A question of urgency was injected into the matter during the discussion of whether to make the ordinance effective on July 1. Such a date would call for an urgency ordinance, which by law requires a four-fifths vote (at least 4 to 1) for passage, one more than the number of councilmen who voted to initiate action on the ordinance last night.

The council will meet tonight at 8:00 o'clock to vote on the ordinance, if by 5:00 o'clock today the city attorney can establish reasons for urgency in the matter. No decision had been reached at noon today.

Amid eloquence from both camps—the adamant councilmen and a full audience composed mostly of representatives of Carmel's 43 organized hostels—the council adopted an amended, 10-point committee report with a four-fold recommendation:

1. That an ordinance be enacted levying a four per cent tax on all transient accommodations including those licensed in private homes.

2. That the tax be made effective for the fiscal year beginning July 1, if it can be established there is a need for urgency action.

3. That one-half the net proceeds of the tax be devoted to general capital outlay projects, including but not limited to such publicly owned off-street parking as the city council may find necessary and desirable.

4. That the balance of net proceeds be devoted exclusively to (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Council Deadlock Upholds Doud-Watson Subdivision Permit

A split 2-2 council vote last night, in effect, upheld the use permit granted by the planning commission for the subdivision of beach land owned by Miss Anita Doud and Mrs. Kathleen Doud Watson.

The deadlock resulted from Councilman Herbert Blanks' withdrawal from all consideration of an appeal against the subdivision from adjacent property owners because he was chairman of the planning commission when the use permit was granted.

Donald Smith, attorney for the appellants, asked for a 15-day stay of execution in order to file action. This was not granted by the council.

Mr. Smith then remarked, "See you in Salinas."

Councilman James Buffington Jr. and Frank Putnam voted to uphold the planning commission's use permit. Mayor Eben Whittlesey and Councilman Francis Whittaker, against.

Council Recommends On Crawford Dune Land Subdivision

The subdivision of dune land at the north end of Carmel Beach, owned by William Crawford, was considered by the city council last night.

The matter arose from a planning commission interim report to the council which raised questions of providing fire and police services to a proposed three-lot subdivision of the property which does not have access off a city street, but does lie within the city boundaries.

The council's recommendations were: three sites only should be allowed in the subdivision, in addition to the site on which Mr. Crawford has his dwelling; a fire hydrant should be installed on a rental basis; access be permitted over a 20-foot surfaced private driveway over Del Monte Properties and Mr. Crawford's land.

In other action last night the council:

Adopted an ordinance showing intent to acquire the small parcel of beach immediately south of the city at Santa Lucia for park purposes.

Adopted an ordinance re-classifying certain property now designated C-1 and C-1-S to C-1-L in compliance with the general plan.

Set hearings at 8:00 o'clock on July 5 on an ordinance which would provide for variance permits (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Little League Festival June 17 In Honor Of Father's Day Will Have Game Between Girls' Teams

Looking ahead to Father's Day, June 17, Carmel Little Leaguers, their parents and sponsors are planning a festival for that day, which marks the end of the first half of the Little League season, and which they hope will be the first of an annual tradition. There are diversified events on the packed program.

With all Leaguers, including majors, minors and farm team girl players in the fourth through seventh grades.

Also a feature of the day will be the sale of copies of the official Little League coat of arms, designed by cartoonist Bill O'Malley, and the drawing for the prize glove for which the chances are still being sold this week.

A slate of nominees for League offices will also be presented, the election to follow on June 18, at 8:00 o'clock in the Sunset School library.

Among those helping with the Sunday event, which is sponsored by the Little League Women's Auxiliary and the board of directors, will be Mrs. Betty Schaeffer in charge of donated foods, Mrs. Lloyd Cunningham in charge of team sign-ups, which are open to

SECOND HALF LITTLE LEAGUE STARTS TONIGHT

(First-half Final Standings)		Won	Lost
Pilot Market	8	0
Sport Shop	6	2
Turner & McEldowney	4	4
Boy's Town	3	5
Wilder & Jones	1	7
P. A. Macs	1	7

With all the teams setting their sights on the high-flying Pilot Market nine, the second-half of the 1962 Little League chase gets under way tonight at 6:00 o'clock with the runner-up Sport Shop challenging Art Carpenter's Pilot crew. The grocers went undefeated during the first-half, but figure to receive stiffer competition during the second round as all the teams have improved with the experience of league play. Gerald Artellan's Sports were nipped twice during the first half, dropping a 3-1 decision to Pilot, and getting nudged, 8 to 7, by third-place Turner & McEldowney.

Last week's Little League action saw Newt Goodrich's fast-improving Boy's Town nine edging Lee McGuckin's P. A. Macs, 8 to 7, with John Jacoby pitching the win for the clothiers. David Eagle hit a two-bagger and a single to lead the winners at the plate, while Chris Laiolo and Tony Klepich swung the big sticks for the losers. The Macs outhit Goodrich's gang, 12 to 6, but couldn't bunch the blows to counter the two big innings enjoyed by the clothiers. Boy's Town put together a three-run outburst in the first heat, and dented the platter five times in the fourth frame.

Jim Kelsey's Turner & McEldowney squad took a firm hold on third place in the league standings by clipping Jack Cate's Wilder & Jones outfit, 4 to 3, in a fine duel between pitchers Chris Chomiak and Brian McEldowney for the bricklayers, and Hart Silverie for the plumbers. Chomiak and McEldowney struck out 14 W & J swingers while pitching no-hit ball, and Silverie tossed a one-hitter at T & M. Rick Stemple, T & M first-baseman, was the only batter to connect for a safe hit, garnering a single in the third inning.

Diminutive Ronnie Parsons looked ten-feet tall to the Turner & McEldowney hitters in Monday night's action as the little left-hander fashioned a two-hitter against the bricklayers, to post a 10-1 victory for the Pilot Market. Jim Grey and Brian McEldowney picked up scattered hits off the veteran grocer pitcher as his mates staked him to a ten-run lead in the third canto.

Rodger Ruskell hurled the Sport Shop to a 6-3 decision over Wilder & Jones Tuesday night as Mark Zanides furnished the power with a grand slam homer in the fifth inning. With Ralph Forbes, Ruskell, and Ben Artellan on the bases, the stocky Sport catcher deposited one out of the park to sew up the win for Gerald Artellan's crew. John Kimbark pitched a solid four-hitter for the losers, but lost the decision to the long blow by Zanides.

Sport Shop and Pilot furnish the action in tonight's game; Friday night, it's Boy's Town against Turner & McEldowney; Wilder & Jones and P. A. Macs cross bats on Monday; Sport Shop takes on Turner & McEldowney Tuesday; and the Wednesday fare has Boy's Town going against Wilder & Jones.

CIRCLING THE BASES

Paul Artellan's Carmel Merchant softball squad turned in one of its best performances of the year against the strong Fort Ord Service Company last Saturday night, whipping the pro-studded aggregation, 3 to 0, as Gene Zinani and Phil Ramirez teamed up to throw a two-hitter at the soldiers. With Bob Updike leading the way on several brilliant defensive plays in the outfield, the Merchants played errorless ball to support the fine throwing of Zinani and Ramirez. Carmel's Chuck Downes, who has done such an outstanding job of baseball organization at the Robert Louis Stevenson School, has turned in his suit at the Pebble Beach school and will transfer his teaching talents to the Emerson School in Pacific Grove. The likable RLS coach had the finest baseball program in prep circles going at Robert Louis Stevenson and the Buccaneers will miss his enthusiastic leadership next season. Downes piloted RLS to three winning seasons in a row and climaxed this season with a 13 to 1 drubbing of the Carmel High nine.

The Carmel Pony League which is limited to youngsters in the 13-14 age group, got off to a stuttering start last Saturday as the Carmel Valley Broncos turned out to be short of players, forcing a cancellation of the Bronco-Sport Shop Cardinals game. However, league officials have rectified the player shortage problem on the Valley nine, and league action will be assured for all six teams in the circuit. Playing conditions on the Carmel School diamond caused a postponement of Monday and Tuesday's games as a scraping job was done on the rough playing field. Diamond trouble has plagued the Pony Leaguers for the past three seasons, starting with their play at the treacherous Carmel High diamond.

Carmel's entry in the Peninsula Babe Ruth League appears headed for a big season as the local squad picked up three wins in its first three outings. Managers George Thaler and Jim Lang have a veteran aggregation going for them this season, and this could be the year for the Babe Ruth title to come to Carmel. In its opening game, Carmel clipped Baldwin Pianos, 7 to 6, as Ralph Juarez and George Thaler swung big sticks for the Merchants. The Carmel gang had an easy time with the Monterey Kiwanis Saturday afternoon, and went on a hitting spree to down the Moose Lodge, 11 to 1, in an abbreviated five-inning game. George Thaler rocketed a three-run homer and Ralph Juarez had four rbi's to lead the Carmel hit parade. Excellent one-hit pitching by Bobby Moffatt silenced the Moose bats and made the going easy for the Carmel entry. Stan Newlin's Tri-City Connie Mack League team makes its 1962 debut this Sunday in a 3:00 o'clock game at the El Estero Park in Monterey. The Peninsula Connie Mack entry is stocked by players in the 16-18 age group from Carmel, Monterey, and Pacific Grove. Seaside, Fort Ord, and Salinas entries will provide the opposition for the Tri-City club this season.

Tennis Court Auction Sunday Offers Work Of 44 Local Artists

Seventeen additional local artists have donated pictures for the third annual Tennis Court Art Auction Sunday afternoon at John Gardiner's Tennis Ranch in Carmel Valley, starting promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

The new paintings mean 44 artists have donated work for the support of Beacon House, Peninsula rehabilitation center for alcoholics operated by the Alcoholism Center of the Monterey Peninsula.

Additions to the auction include work by Howard Bobbs, Burton Boundy, Alex Gonzales, Leonard Heller, Margaret Ziegler, Zetta Laky, Jeanne d'Orge (Mrs. Carl Cherry), Sam Colburn, Stephan Hennessy, Joshua Meador, Dale Minor, W. Stanley and Henrietta Pearce, Doris Rohr, Lee Tevis, Walter Landaker, and Jessie MacGregor.

The originally published list of 27 artists who donated pictures to the auction contained the name of Abel G. Warshawsky whose death occurred last week.

Reserved seats for the bidders' circle may be purchased. A luncheon starting at 12:30 o'clock precedes the auction and reservations should be made for this part of the event.

Artists who have donated pictures will receive 25 percent of the price at which their pictures are auctioned. The rest of the proceeds will go to Beacon House.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MAyfair 4-3881

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Judge Eugene Harrah, president of the Monterey County Symphony Association, has sent out an excellent notice concerning the orchestra's needs and future plans after 17 years of continued progress. This is a reminder to those who have considered becoming members of the association or buying season tickets, but have put it off, or forgotten, in preparations for summer.

The National Symphony League is holding its twentieth annual convention in Chicago, June 20-23, immediately afterwards will hold its three-week annual workshop for composers, conductors and players from American and Canadian orchestras. The workshop, headed by John Edwards, league president, and executive secretary Helen Thompson, and directed by conductors Richard Lert and Erno Daniels will be held at Asilomar. We will welcome them all as we have for the past six years, also the Monterey County Symphony conductor, John Gosling, who expects to be back from Britain for the event.

Among the important sessions in Chicago on orchestras, arts councils, composers and critics councils will be the address by William L. Slayton, Commissioner of Urban Renewal in Washington, D. C. on June 23.

This will be a high spot of the four-day convention that has attracted a list of representatives from the nation's major, community and college orchestras, also arts councils as well as groups and individuals working with symphony organizations. Mr. Slayton is expected to deliver a "major policy" statement which possibly could define the administration's attitude toward development of musical and artistic activities in urban areas of the United States.

Nearly two-thirds of the known 1252 symphony orchestras and art councils in the United States and Canada are represented in the League's membership. The league considers the interests of all orchestral developments, also progress of musicians.

Mrs. Jouett Shouse gave land near Washington, D. C., and architect Edward D. Stone is contributing a design for a headquarters building for the League. Mrs. Shouse and Mrs. Helen Thompson both are on the committee for the new cultural center in the nation's capital. This will include a national theatre.

Do not forget the local composers' program in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall on Saturday. It is open to the public.

Free MPC Program Includes Music Of Local Composers

A concert of contemporary music by composers Lou Harrison, Philippe Buhler, Lansdale Podbereski, Robert Hughes and the late Wallingford Riegger will be presented by the Aptos Woodwind Quintet with Piano Saturday evening, 8:30 o'clock, in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall. The public is invited to attend without charge.

Two of Lou Harrison's compositions will be played: Serenade for Winds, and Schoenbergiana. Buhler, whose Petite Suite Francaise will be presented, is an instructor of French at the Army Language School and an evening division instructor of music at MPC. Another local composer represented on the program is Lansdale Podbereski, a resident of Monterey.

Three cowboy songs, La red o, Nightherder's Song, and Whistling Tune will appear on the program. The composer, Robert Hughes, is also a bassoonist and conductor. Riegger, composer of Concerto for Piano and Woodwind Quintet, Op. 53, which closes the MPC concert program, died in New York in 1960. He was one of the group of older experimentalists which includes Cowell, Ruggles, and Varèse. Considered by many to be the dean of American atonal composers, he forged the 12-tone system into a "strong, personal idiom."

Patrons for the MPC concert include Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bissantz, Maj. and Mrs. Jack J. Cowan, Mrs. B. Franklin Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Ferro, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huntington II, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Klene, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Knight, Miss Marilyn Kudell, Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf Lannestock, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lee, Arthur Lehmann, Miss Helen Lehmann, Mrs. Thornton Oakley, George Podbereski, Mrs. Marie B. Sale, Mrs. Hascal V. Stewart, Mrs. Charles A. Trumbly, David Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz T. Wurzmann, and Mrs. Bernard J. Wenger.

Benefit Concert On Sunday For Forest Theater Programs

As a fund raising event to support free Forest Theater Sunday programs, the Carmel Arts Commission will present Herb Miller's Concert in the Forest on Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the Forest Theater.

The $1.00 admission donation will be given to the Forest Theater Sundays fund so that a second year of free programs may be presented each week end at the city-owned outdoor theater. Tickets may be obtained from the Browne Around music store, or at the theater before the concert.

The program will include a variety of musical styles, from pops to jazz. During the afternoon, Mr. Miller will explain why arrangers write as they do, in a critique on arrangement and composition. Included in the program will be String of Pearls, a modern arrangement of Moonlight in Vermont, Second Time Around, and Duke Ellington's Sentimental Mood.

TRY-OUTS AT CIRCLE FOR SUMMER SCHEDULE

The Golden Bough Circle Theatre announces try-outs for Ira Levin's hit comedy, Critic's Choice. The play will rehearse from mid-July until August 23, and play on week ends through September. Because of the theatre's accelerated summer schedule, casting must be completed in the near future.

Roles open include that of a New York drama critic (played on Broadway by Henry Fonda), a mercurial director, a precocious 12-year-old boy, his beautiful young stepmother who takes up play-writing, a fortyish siren, an efficient mother-in-law, and a colored maid.

Further try-outs will be announced next week for two classical plays set to precede Critic's Choice in the summer program. Anyone unable to attend the readings may make a separate appointment by phoning the director, Frederick Rider, at MA 4-2669 or MA 4-2267.

Whether Downcoast Or In Alaska, Zufich Likes Untouched Places

(Continued from Page One) ville, by way of Canada, in 1887. An expert jeweler, Rappe numbered among his customers the Mayor of San Francisco, who used to travel down by stagecoach to Watsonville in order that his watch might be repaired by a craftsman.

It was Rappe's daughter who married Andrew Zufich, a Yugoslavian who arrived in San Francisco in the 1890's, somehow found his way to Watsonville, and eventually became its first "strawberry king." Mrs. Zufich, Anthony's mother, now lives in Monterey, as does his sister, the wife of Wade Parks, Monterey pianist and children's piano instructor.

Born on a ranch in Chittenden Pass, and raised in Watsonville, young Zufich graduated from the high school there, completed a stretch with the Army during World War II, and went on to San Jose State College, but always headed back into the Santa Lucia mountains when he could find the time.

"I liked children and I liked remote places," Zufich says. So it's not surprising to learn that after college he went off to teach school in Alaska. "In those days in the Territory you would not necessarily teach in the same place every year. I taught for three years in three separate parts of Alaska, but all under the same contract. Moving around like that was a wonderful way of seeing the country. In the summers I either got a job on the new roads that were being built up there, or I worked for the United States Fish and Wildlife Service."

Zufich's first year of teaching was at the school in Angoon, on Admiralty Island, southwest of Juneau, teaching the Tlinget (pronounced "clinket") Indians. Zufich describes them as one of the totem pole tribes, of great material wealth, whose livelihood is derived from the sea, and who originated the potlatch. "A potlatch was a kind of status symbol. When you had amassed a fortune in the way of boats, food, houses, and so forth, you gave away most of it, and then set fire to everything else, just to show the neighbors how rich you were," he says.

After this first year of teaching, Zufich went back to San Jose State for a summer of graduate study in child psychology. The following year he taught at Wasilla, in the Matanuska Valley north of Anchorage; and spent his third year on the Kenai peninsula, south of Anchorage, now well known for the great oil deposits that have been discovered there.

After five years in Alaska, Zufich came back to California, and settled where he now lives, up in the Santa Lucias. "I had already persuaded my father to buy 160 acres up there; later I bought another 120 acres from the State of California. I decided that I would like to put up a pack station and organize camping trips for children into the back country."

This idea took a few years of planning and building. Zufich, who is unmarried, chose a site for a house on his acreage—a high eminence looking across the ridge into Bixby Canyon and beyond, down Rocky Creek and over the ocean, 2,000 feet below. Then he made a road, which twists up for two miles from his gate, itself five miles inland from Highway One on the Palo Colorado Road.

Gradually Zufich built himself an A-frame redwood house, resting on hand-hewn rock buttresses, which is principally one big room. His source of water is a year-around stream up on the mountain above him. The water flows by gravity through 3,000 feet of pipe, "and even in the worst of the dry years I was getting 10 gallons a minute."

Here is where Zufich and his dog, Kinki, live when he isn't driving to town on errands in his faded blue pickup truck. Around him he has reminders of the days of Indians and Spaniards, mortar holes in the surrounding rocks, a rusted spur with a big steel rowel, pieces of diamond shaped glass (used by the Spanish in trade with the Indians), an Indian bowl. The coyotes no longer bark as often or as near as they once did, but an occasional wild boar comes through his land.

Having accumulated a string of four burros and two hinnies ("No, I have no stable for them; living in such luxury would make them soft!"), Zufich was finally in a position to organize his Venta na Trail Trips, as they are called, and has spent his recent summers taking groups of children and young people on pack trips of up to 40 miles into the mountains that lie between the coast and upper Carmel Valley. While he is away in Alaska this summer, his place will be taken over by the recreation department of the city of Monterey, with plans to build a swimming pool, to be used as a children's camp.

As word got around that there was a "mountain man" who knew the country and had a string of pack animals, Zufich was approached last year by the Granite Rock Company to take their geologists through the Pico Blanco area. Thus he learned that the company has an option to buy a square mile of Pico Blanco mountain from a private owner, and possibly intends to dig out the high grade limestone which is in abundance there.

After Zufich's discovery and his reports to the local press, public concern and indignation were aroused. Conservationists are trying to do what they can to save the mountain and the wild area, hoping their action will not come too late. "Try to imagine what the situation would be," says Zufich, "if the mountain were exploited in this ruthless way, with one billion tons, as it's estimated, of limestone at the company's disposal."

Whether or not the whole of Pico Blanco can be saved is as yet not known. The Granite Rock Company must obtain a use permit from the county planning commission before beginning their operations. At the moment the matter is hanging fire. But if any group can be rallied which will bring pressure upon the federal government to control the area, Anthony Zufich is sure to become one of its leaders and spokesmen.

In the course of one of the Zufich trail trips last year, a boy, listening to Zufich's Alaskan reminiscences, suddenly burst out with "Wouldn't it be great to organize a trip up THERE?" "It would," Zufich immediately replied. In that instant the plan for this summer was sparked.

Since then it has been a matter of rounding up the two buses and another man or two to help, figuring transportation costs, attending to all the complex logistics that such an expedition involves.

"You know," he says, "it will be the little things, as much as the bigger adventures, that the boys will never forget. For instance, the fish wheels on the Yukon—those wooden wheels that turn over and over in the water, scooping up fish—make a strange, moaning sound that means only one place in the world: Alaska."

"It will be good to get underway," says Tony Zufich, with the air of a man impatient to set off toward that wild land where the compass needle points.

Tasha Has A Birthday

Twenty-five friends of all ages gathered Sunday afternoon at the Carmel Highlands home of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Doner to wish their daughter, Tasha, a happy seventeenth birthday.

Tasha, a junior at Carmel High School, greeted her guests in the sunny patio. A very special fruit and nut filled cake of Mrs. Doner's was served with peaches and berries, followed by a round of folk singing.

A Pirate Party For David

"Avast, landlubber! You're invited to a pirate party for David Duerr on the beach by the Jolly Roger flag. Come as a pirate." So read the invitations, suitably singed around the edges, sent to River School third grade classmates and other friends who were thus invited to David's ninth birthday party.

The desperadoes assembled on Reamer's Beach at 4:00 o'clock on Friday afternoon and after going on a scavenger hunt in the neighborhood (sample clue: "what is black and white and read yesterday?") settled down to the serious business of a hamburger barbecue prepared by David's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duerr.

David's guests included Kathy Luch, Jerry Masten, Leslie Vining, Diane Wermuth, John Duhring,

The Carmel Recreation Commission passed into nothingness last night when the city council moved to repeal the ordinance which created it.

The commission was originally established for the purpose of receiving funds from the Carmel Unified School District for support of the Carmel Youth Center. This support has been discontinued. Therefore the council decided that the city recreation commission was no longer needed.

The Forest Theater is now under the jurisdiction of the arts commission; the city tennis courts can be the responsibility of the street department; recreation activities are adequately handled by the school district's recreation committee; and council committees can take care of other recreation matters, the council decided.

Councilman Frank Putnam commended the recreation commission for its "splendid" work last year. Councilman Francis Whitaker paid tribute to Mrs. Hugh Smith's greenbelt commission report.

Mayor Eben Whittlesey suggested an appropriate expression of appreciation from the city be given citizens who had served on the recreation commission.

Carmel's Police Chief and candidate for sheriff, Clyde P. Klaumann, was granted a week's vacation by the city council last night. He will use it, he said, "to go fishing."

Monterey Peninsula College will have two summer sessions, both starting on June 25. One will end on August 3, the other on August 18. Registration for both begins June 20 and ends June 26. Counseling service for summer students will be available daily from June 18 through June 22. There will be no tuition fee for the sessions.

Further information is included in a summer session brochure, which can be obtained either by calling at the college, or telephoning or writing a request for a brochure to be mailed. The telephone number is FR 5-9821; the mailing address, Box 1231, Monterey.

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors, Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, will hold a second public hearing in Salinas on the Coast Master Plan. If the supervisors approve the plan after the hearing, the measure to protect the scenic beauty of Highway One from Malpaso Creek to the San Luis Obispo County line will become law.

Monterey County planning commissioners, Tuesday morning, will consider granting use permits for a tract office at Garrapata Creek, requested by E. C. Banfield, Jr., and an addition at Big Sur to the Roman Catholic church.

In the afternoon, starting at 1:30 o'clock, they will hear a progress report on a county plan for the area from Malpaso Creek to Carmel River. This region includes Carmel Highlands.

Carmel planning commissioners will meet on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in City Hall for a special study session on parking in the business district.

Parts for Inching, the children's play which will be produced at the Forest Theater in August, are being typed at Carmel High School this week, according to Mrs. Richard Lofton, who will direct the performance sponsored by the Carmel Unified School District summer recreation program.

Inching was first given at the Forest Theater 40 years ago and has had several performances in intervening years. The play was specially written for production at the outdoor theater by the late Ira Remsen of Carmel.

City Attorney John Morse last night described the title to the Doud-Watson beach land as "clouded." Mayor Eben Whittlesey quickly added that to him the property appeared to be in a "low fog."

Art On The Peninsula

Traditional and modern paintings, drawings and sculpture are included in the new show of members' work which opened yesterday at the Carmel Art Association Gallery.

Sam Harris was chairman of the committee which hung the show. He was assisted by Cush Walker, Marjorie Allen, John LaPierre, Ethlyn Crouch, Gerald Wasserstein, Virginia Frye, Pat Carey, Robert Davey and Alex Gonzales.

Until the end of June, an exhibition of oil paintings by Patricia Cunningham of Carmel will be exhibited at the Artists Guild of America, Inc. Gallery hours are 11:00-5:00 o'clock daily including Sundays.

The show includes paintings done by the artist during a recent European trip. These are being shown in the United States for the first time.

Patricia Cunningham, former president of the Carmel Art Association, is a director of the Carmel Art Institute. The Western Museum Directors' Association sponsored a rotating exhibition of her work in San Francisco, Santa Barbara, Portland, Richmond, Washington State College, and Salt Lake City.

She is a fourth generation Californian and an alumna of the University of California where, among honors, she was awarded the Amy Johnson art fellowship. With this she went to Europe to study with Hans Hoffman and Andre L'Hote.

She has taught at the University of California and Mills College. In recent years she has made several trips abroad to paint, especially in Italy.

An interesting visitor to the Monterey Peninsula this month is a Turkish painter, Bedri Rahmi Eyuboglu. Mr. Eyuboglu is a man widely versed in the arts. He is widely known for his murals and mosaics in public buildings throughout Turkey, as well as for those in hotels and the Istanbul branch of KLM. He represented Turkey at the 1958 Brussels Fair where his large mosaic panel (227 square yards) won a gold medal. The following year he designed a 50-square-yard panel for the N.A.T.O. building in Paris.

After studying textile printing and weaving for some years, he provided designs for textiles and dishes to be mass produced for the Turkish people. A man of letters as well, seven of his books have been published in Turkey, where he also writes weekly for the newspaper Cumhuriyet.

Since September of 1961 he has been a visiting professor at the University of California, Berkeley, on a Ford Foundation grant.

Mr. Eyuboglu's paintings are on exhibit at the American Federation of Arts headquarters on Lincoln Street through June 21.

Monterey Peninsula College's sixth annual art show opened today in the new art building on campus.

The display, containing the works of some 100 beginning and advanced evening and day students of Robert Nelson, Richard Bibler, Chet Smith and others, includes paintings, drawings, designs and photographs.

The public is invited to view the showing without charge through June 14 between the hours of 8:00 o'clock in the morning and 9:30 in the evening weekdays.

Zyta Laky of the Laky Galleries is among those whose work is included in the California Statewide Exhibit of the American Artists' Professional League, sponsored by the Santa Cruz Art League, 526 Broadway, Santa Cruz.

Mrs. Laky has lived in Carmel for six years and during that time has been very active not only as an artist, but also as a teacher and a demonstrator. She studied at the Hungarian Royal Academy of Art, and is a member of the National Salon of Budapest and a Life Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts in London. She has also established a reputation as a muralist.

This exhibit continues until July 1. Gallery hours are 1:00-5:00 o'clock daily. Admission is free.

Wife Of Ambassador To Ghana Former Teacher In Valley

A former teacher at Carmel School in Carmel Valley is the wife of the new U.S. Ambassador to Ghana.

President John F. Kennedy recently appointed William P. Mahoney, Jr., an attorney in Phoenix, Arizona, as his official representative to the African republic. Ambassador Mahoney's wife is the former Alice Doyle, niece of the late Noel Sullivan, and well known here when she taught in the Valley.

The Mahoneys have seven children.

children, ranging in age from 15 to three years, who will all live in Accra with their parents. Two of the family's dogs, a German shepherd and a mongrel, will accompany them to Africa. Left behind will be seven horses, two dogs, a cat, and a baby cottontail.

Ambassador Mahoney was sworn into office on May 23, then returned to Arizona. Accompanied by his family, he returned to Washington, D.C., yesterday and, following a final briefing from President Kennedy, will spend a week in New York being briefed by the U. S. State Department. With Mrs. Mahoney and the children, he will fly on June 15 to Accra, the capital of Ghana. His tour of duty there will be two years.

Carmelo 4-H Club To Hold Local Fair, Also Horse Play Day

Members of Carmelo 4-H Club in Carmel Valley are inviting the public to attend, free of charge, their Exhibit Day on June 24 at the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club grounds. There will also be a horse play day with events open to any boy or girl 1-18 years of age.

Exhibit Day is planned as a local fair to give the 4-H club members experience for the Monterey County Fair later in the summer. From 10:00 o'clock in the morning until 4:00 in the afternoon, the 4-Hers will exhibit animals, also electricity, clothing and cooking displays.

The horse play day events will include classes in equitation, stake races, pole bending and other classes usual to an affair of this kind.

Entry blanks are available this week and may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. George Pullman at MA 4-3534, or Mrs. John Williams at MA 4-5051.

VISITS WINE COUNTRY

Visits to Sonoma and the Napa valley wine country were on the itinerary when Mr. and Mrs. Everett Banfield, Jr., with their two sons, Alan, seven, and Bruce, five, took a leisurely three-day automobile trip into northern California recently.

High point of the expedition for the little boys was the "voyage" by ferry boat from Martinez to Benicia, their first such experience. "This is the last ferry boat ride in the San Francisco Bay area, and will be discontinued in September," says Mrs. Banfield, "so we wanted to enjoy it while we still had the chance."

City Council Saves Character Of Carmel On Monday Tree Tour

Trees were saved, wild mariposa lilies preserved, the firefly glimmer of flashlights along unlighted residential streets retained, and lives of citizens safeguarded by actions of the city council on its monthly tree tour Monday afternoon.

After convening at city hall, the council set out to inspect the Doud-Watson beach land south of Ocean Avenue, proceeded to the home of Colonel Harold Mack at Carmelo and Thirteenth, considered installing a street light at Monte Verde and Fifth, paused at the Forest Theater, and ended up surveying a traffic hazard at Junipero and Third.

No action was taken on the appeal of residents adjacent to the Doud-Watson land who appealed to the council against a subdivision of the property granted by the planning commission. Colonel Mack was allowed to remove an acacia tree, judged dangerous, but was instructed he must retain two others.

The request of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, for a street light in the residence zone at the northeast corner of Monte Verde and Fifth was denied because it would, if placed on the only available pole, fail to shed light unless there were considerable trimming of a healthy pine, thus ruining the beauty of the tree.

Councilman Frank Putnam defended the right of every citizen to follow the gleam of a flashlight along Carmel's unlighted residential streets.

"I like to think of them appearing as fireflies," he mused.

At the Forest Theater, the council surveyed the entrance driveway to the city-owned theater off Mountain View, rutted annually by rains, and decided that a permanent solution to this problem was to replace the decomposed granite surface with pebbled double seal blackcoat. Councilman Francis Whitaker added to the motion the condition that the driveway and turn-around be definitely defined by a barrier so that "fragile areas" where now rare in Carmel mariposa lilies were in bloom, would be preserved.

Street Superintendent William Askew, Jr., estimated cost of the surfacing would be $100-150. Cost of the barrier would depend on whether rock, at not much more cost, or redwood logs, at greater cost, were used. Former Mayor Herbert Heron, founder of the Forest Theater, met the councilmen as they entered the gates.

At the truck route intersection of Junipero and Third, where the city street intrudes four feet onto private property at the southeast, almost blind corner, councilmen decided to realign the traveled right of way on the north side of Third, even though this means removing four pines, but does gain landscaping on the south side.

"One person's life is more important than four pines," Councilman Herbert Blanks maintained.

Total cost of the project will be $820, to be divided as follows: city $580; property owners $240.

SALVATION ARMY CAMP PLANS ANNOUNCED

Camp Redwood Glen, located in the Santa Cruz mountains, is operated by the Salvation Army for Northern California boys and girls, many of whom are sent to camp on camperships. Each year, over 1,000 children spend a week of outdoor fun, sports and activities at this camp.

This summer the organization hopes to double the number of boys and girls sent to Redwood Glen from the Monterey Peninsula. Salvation Army service units serving the Peninsula include Carmel, Monterey, Pacific Grove, and Seaside.

This year, the Salvation Army is conducting its own independent operating fund drive here, which includes both a mail campaign and a subsequent special gifts phase.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

When June starts bursting out all over, so do reading clubs and story hours at most libraries, this one being no exception. The summer reading club will start on June 18. This year it will be called the Mercury Project Club and all participants are invited to become astronauts and read their merry ways from planet to planet. The story hours will start on June 20 at 10:00 o'clock in the morning and will be held at that hour on all the following Wednesdays. This year the children will come in the front door and not by way of any other special door as they did last summer. This is not a pre-school story hour and we prefer to have no children younger than four years of age. It spoils the story for older children to have the littlest ones racketing around. So, from four years up to the age when story hours seem silly, let them come.

Michael Frome has a book entitled Whose Woods These Are: the Story of the National Forests. Illustrated with maps and color photographs, this book would make campers and explorers of us all.

We have several readers waiting for Richard Nixon's Six Crises. These crises were The Hiss Case, The Fund, The Heart Attack, Caracas, Kruschchev, and The Campaign of 1960. This is a big book, even without the pictures which were omitted. Due to waiting lists, we may not be able to renew it, so read the ones which interest you most, and wait to complete the reading later on.

Writers looking for a publisher, looking for an agent, looking for information pertinent to their chosen profession, will eagerly borrow The Writer and His Markets by Paul Reynolds. Paper backs, foreign markets, the movies and television, even sample contracts are included in this worthwhile book for the beginner in the writing craft.

Mora Dickinson is an artist who is married to an official in UNESCO and her book entitled Baghdad and Beyond is not only informative but beautiful. End papers in the book are maps of Iraq and should be helpful for reference while reading.

A personal, intimate story of his own life is told by Arthur Cavanaugh in his book called My Own Back Yard. The author is a successful writer of plays for television and of short stories. The people in this book are warm, friendly, human people, and the book Kerman Alderson is hoisted high by Walter Nielsen, left, and Harold Nielsen, right, at a recent barbecue in honor of Alderson's 25 years with Nielsen Bros. Grocery. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nielsen in Carmel Valley.

Guests enjoyed barbecued chicken, steaks and spareribs, also admired a cake on which was inscribed, in icing, "25th anniversary for Kerman at NB."

Well-wishers who were present at the festivities were, besides Mrs. Alderson and the Nielsen brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Roberts, Mrs. Harold Nielsen, Mrs. Walter Nielsen, Connie Nielsen, and George Smith, who took photographs of the lively gathering.

W. Stoneman

Wallace C. Stoneman of Carmel died Monday at his home after a prolonged period of failing health. He was 76 and had been a resident of Berkeley before moving to Carmel two months ago.

Born November 11, 1885, he was a native of Sister Bay, Wisconsin. He was retired, and lived alone at his home on Junipero between Second and Third Avenues. He was a member of the Berkeley Lodge, F. & A.M.

Mr. Stoneman leaves no known relatives. Private services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, with inurnment at the Chapel of the Chimes in Oakland. The Paul Mortuary has been in charge of local arrangements.

Johan Hagemeyer

The friends of Johan Hagemeyer, who died at his home in Berkeley on May 20, will remember him affectionately as one of Carmel's early and distinguished residents.

Mr. Hagemeyer came to Carmel in 1923 and, with his brother, Hendrik Hagemeyer, bought the triangular property south of Ocean Avenue and east of Junipero Street. Here for many years he had his well-known studio of photography. After leaving Carmel, he bought a house in San Francisco; later one in Berkeley.

Johan Hagemeyer was an artist of sensitive and rare ability. His work was known wherever the true value of fine photography was prized. His portraits were especially remarkable for their disclosure of the inner essence of his subject, which he seemed to glimpse by a peculiar awareness and understanding.

During his creative years, he photographed such famous artists as Alfred Cortot, Richard Buhlig, Ernst Bacon, Roland Hayes, Nathan Firestone, Allan Bier, Jacques Thibaut and many others, also enjoyed the friendship of many of these persons.

He had a number of one-man shows in Carmel, San Francisco and Berkeley, and received high praise for his photography.

Born in Amsterdam, Holland, in 1885, Johan Hagemeyer came to this country in 1912. After a short period of study in New York, he came to California and lived in Altadena, Los Angeles and San Francisco before coming, in 1923, to Carmel where he lived for many years in his house at Mountain View and Ocean Avenue.

He was well-known among the artistic circles of early Carmel, and, as one of his friends said, "He will be remembered for his charm, his modesty and the gracious tradition of a gentleman of Holland."

Johan Hagemeyer leaves two nephews, David Hagemeyer of Carmel and Max Hagemeyer of Nevada City; also two nieces, Mrs. M. Hatchman of Menlo Park, and Mrs. L. Musgrave of San Jose.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Saturday, the 30th day of June, 1962, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock A. M., in the lobby of LaPorte - Greenwald Co., situate at 122 Webster Street facing the Webster Street side of the United States Post Office in the City of Monterey, State of California, COLTON INVESTMENT COMPANY, a corporation, as Trustee by Substitution under that certain Deed of Trust executed by THOMAS C. BROACH and ADLEAN BROACH, his wife, for the benefit and security of CHARLES E. SHEPHERD, Trustee, said Deed of Trust dated July 9, 1959, and recorded on July 17, 1959, in Book 1974, Official Records, at Page 338, under County Recorder's Series No. 24005, Monterey County, California, reference to which is hereby made, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in lawful money of the United States of America, payable at the time of sale, the following described real property situate in the County of Monterey, State of California, and more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point designated R-24, said point being on the centerline of a county road right of way 30 feet wide, as said Point R-24 and said county road are shown on that certain Map entitled, "Licensed Surveyor's Map of Tompkins Property," filed on April 14, 1927 with the Recorder of Monterey County, California, in Volume 3 of Surveys, at page 118; thence following said centerline of said road

(1) S. 3° 05' W., 278.31 feet to a pipe designated C-38; thence (2) N. 26° 11' W., 71.61 feet to a pipe designated K-5; thence (3) N. 21° 58' W., 114.55 feet, to Point Y-11; thence

(4) N. 3° 00' W., 43.54 feet; thence

(5) N. 3° 00' W., 35.76 feet to Point Y-13; thence

(6) N. 45° 01' W., 35.89 feet to Point Y-14; thence leaving said road centerline and following instead a survey line shown on said map

(7) N. 36° 24' E., 91.06 feet to Point C-34; said point being a point on said road centerline hereinbefore mentioned; thence following said road centerline

(8) S. 53° 36' E., 112.42 feet, to the point of beginning and being a portion of that certain tract of land conveyed to Elizabeth Knight Tompkins, by deed recorded in Volume 179 of Deeds at page 121, Records of Monterey County, California.

EXCEPTING that portion thereof lying within said County Road, said portion being more particularly a strip of land 15 feet wide, lying along, adjacent to and on the westerly side of said Courses (1) and (8) and along, adjacent to and on the easterly side of said Courses (2) to (6) inclusive.

COLTON INVESTMENT COMPANY, a corporation, has been substituted as Trustee by instrument dated June 4, 1962.

Said sale will be made without covenant, or warranty regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligation secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in and by said Deed of Trust.

Notice of Default of said obligation and election to sell said real property was recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Monterey County, California, on March 28, 1961, in Book 2134, Official Records at Page 527, copy of which Notice of Default was mailed by Certified Mail at the address as specified in said Deed of Trust at the time provided by law.

That nothing has been paid on account of the principal and interest on said Deed of Trust subsequent to the filing of said Notice of Default.

The owner and holder of the promissory note and the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, or any other persons may purchase at said sale.

This notice is given in compliance with a demand heretofore made on said Trustee by said Beneficiary.

Williamses Off To Nova Scotia

A week from today, Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams of Carmel Highlands will fly to San Francisco, then in the direction of Nova Scotia, where they have a summer home on Cape Breton Island, 10 miles from the town of Baddeck.

On the way East, Mr. Williams will stop off at Cornell University for a week to attend the 13th International Ornithological Congress, held every four years, usually in Europe, and this year for the first time in the United States. (In 1954 the Williamses were in Switzerland when the Congress met there.) Ornithologists from as far away as India will attend, "but mostly from America, Germany, and England," says Mrs. Williams. While he is at Cornell, Mr. Williams will also have the chance to listen to the university's extensive collection of recorded bird voices.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Williams will fly to Boston, where she will meet her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Meyer, and their two children, Cynthia, two and one half, and Nathaniel, seven months old. From here they will all drive to Cape Breton together. The Meyers, who will spend the summer with the Williamses, have lived for the past nine months in Annapolis, Maryland, where Harvey has just completed his third year at St. John's College.

The Williamses' son, Boz, plans to go East independently, and will meet the rest of the family in Nova Scotia.

Surprise Shower for Betsy

Classmates who graduated last year from Carmel High School, also other friends, surprised bride-elect Betsy Coleman on Sunday with a linen shower at the home of Laylon Thies in South Carmel Hills. Co-hostess was Penny Nielsen, who along with Laylon will attend Betsy when she becomes the bride of Alvin (Micky) Hurst on June 23 at All Saints' Church in Carmel.

The honoree, who believed she was paying a brief call on Laylon just before the latter's return to Cal Poly Sunday afternoon, was greeted also by Niki Budd, Kim Chappell, Tina Dinkin, Kit Duggan, Mary McCulloch, Susan McKenzie, Lynn Porter, Pat Rose, Mrs. Cindy Rowe, who will be matron of honor for Betsy, Susan Tressel, Vicki Walsh and Judy Hensel, as well as by the hostesses.

Those who received invitations but were unable to attend the shower were Julie Campbell, Billie Pritchett, Mardi Lloyd, Joy Fehring, Mary Martin, Pam Petersen and Kate Thomas. Chocolate and vanilla petit fours were served with tea, coffee and ice cream from tables decorated with sweet peas.

Mission Altar Society

The Carmel Mission Altar Society will hear the annual report of the group's chaplain, the Reverend Roger J. Dieudonne, at a luncheon meeting which will close the club year June 14 at noon at the Pine Inn.

Installation of officers for 1962-63 was held last month at Villa Angelica. Miss Dorothy Peacock is the new president. Installed with her were Mrs. Shelburn Robinson, vice president; Mrs. J. Douglas Wohl, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Born, treasurer.

A Graduation Luau

Hawaiian teriyakis served on skewers were among the exotic delicacies served at Annette Thorne's luau for a group of 15 Sunset School eighth grade classmates last week.

When Annette's friends, appropriately dressed in muumuus (girls) and Hawaiian shirts, shorts and hats (boys) arrived at the Scenic Drive home of her mother, Mrs. Annette Thorne, also of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Zang, they found the patio and lanai decorated with palm fronds and tapa cloth hangings. Annette's brother, eight-year-old Jamie, placed a brightly colored lei around the neck of each guest, and the feast that followed was spread on trays on the floor of the lanai before baskets of fruit and flowers, fresh pineapples and coconuts.

Afterwards there was music and dancing, with Jimmy Hatlo playing Hawaiian songs on the piano and everyone taking turns trying to manipulate a steel guitar. The evening wound up with singing around a bonfire on the beach just across the road.

Lee Ann Steinmetz Born

Eighteen-month-old Laura Lee Steinmetz has a little sister, Lee Ann, who was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steinmetz of Carmel on May 20 at the Community Hospital.

Mrs. Sophie Steinmetz of Monterey is the baby's paternal grandmother, and her other grandparent are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Palmer of Lynwood.

Guild Membership Party

The annual membership renewal party of the Monterey County Symphony Guild, also installation of officers for the coming year, will be held on June 12 at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the Fiesta Room at the Casa Munras. There will be a musical program and each member is asked to bring a friend who might become a new member of the organization which supports the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

Rainers Off For Europe

If all goes according to plan, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic E. (Buzz) Rainer and their three children, Teddy, Jeannie and Scotty will sail on July 15 for Europe.

Mr. Rainer, a member of the Carmel High School faculty, will be on a year's sabbatical leave. He applied to the school board for this in verse.

The Rainers will leave San Francisco by boat, sail through the Panama Canal and land in England at Southampton after stops en route in Acapulco, Mexico, and Kingston, Jamaica.

They will "settle down on the edge of London Town," according to Mr. Rainer's verse, which also states "Cambridge hasn't been the same ever since the Rainers came." After study at the English university, Mr. Rainer and his family will visit Holland, France, Italy, Egypt, Greece, India, Bangkok, Singapore and stay for a short time in Hawaii before returning to Carmel.

Patio Party For Classmates

Sandra De Costa and Susan Kramer, two members of Sunset School's graduating class, were co-hostesses at a party given Saturday evening at the Carmel Meadows home of Sandra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett De Costa.

The 22 guests enjoyed a candlelit spaghetti supper, and afterwards danced to records in the patio which was gaily lighted with torches.

Tuesday's Voting Results in Two November Run-Offs

Tuesday's primary elections will result in run-offs in November for two county offices. Carmel Police Chief Clyde Klaumann and Jack Davenport, former highway patrolman, will vie for position of Sheriff of Monterey County; Edwin C. Coffin and Miss Verna White will contest the county superintendent of schools job.

Donald P. Stewart was re-elected county assessor. Russell W. Giles was elected county tax collector-treasurer; Bertram Young, district attorney. Other county officials re-elected were Superior Court Judge Anthony Brazil; County Coroner and Public Administrator Christopher H. Hill, Jr.; Emmet G. McMenamin, county clerk-recorder; Stanley W. Davis, auditor.

Primary election balloting chose Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge as Republican candidate for the 12th Congressional District in November; William K. Stewart on the Democratic ticket.

Republican Assemblyman Alan G. Pattee was unopposed for re-election from the 34th District in November; so was the Democratic Assembly candidate Elvin Anderson.

Carl Bensberg Flies Abroad

Off by plane on Saturday for a summer in Europe again is Carl Bensberg, who will buy a car on his arrival in Germany, then drive to Vienna to visit Austrian friends. Further plans include a trip by river boat down the Danube into Hungary and along the borders of Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Mr. Bensberg's adopted son, Gerhart, aged 12, who came here from Vienna five years ago and has been attending Junipero Serra School, will spend the summer on the Peninsula with friends, "since he can no longer travel for half-fare," his father jokingly adds.

Special Services Sunday For Carmel High School Seniors

Two church services for Carmel High School seniors will be held on Sunday. The Carmel Mission Basilica will dedicate its 11:00 o'clock Mass to members of the graduating class. At 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a special service at the Carmel Presbyterian Church for seniors, their families and friends.

Several students will participate in the afternoon service with the sermon being given by the minister, Dr. Joseph M. Ewing. Elaine Kachavos and Nancy Baxter have been selected to read the scriptures. Carleton Macy will provide a trumpet introduction to the hymn, God of Our Fathers. The 28 member Senior Ensemble, under the direction of Carmel High music teacher John Farr, will sing a Negro spiritual, Let Us Break Bread Together.

A reception in Westminster Hall at the church will follow the service. In charge of the reception is Mrs. John Skillman who will be assisted by seniors in serving coffee, punch and cookies to the guests.

Students working on the special services committee are Sharyn Hibbe, Peggy Newton, Jane Skillman, and John Hackbarth.

First Theatre's Revival Of Drunkard Proves Melodrama Is Timeless

The passage of time has an effect on everything and everybody but the Trouper of the Gold Coast judging by their current revival of the famous old temperance melodrama of the 1840's, The Drunkard, at the First Theatre in Monterey.

Last Friday night members of the packed house at the opening performance tipped back their heads and laughed as heartily as bert Cole, Wayne Edwards, Vincent Russo, Kati and Lee Stoney, Lory Swan and Al Olinger were carried off with aplomb and added greatly to the evening's hilarity.

The olio had 15 fast-paced numbers topped off with the traditional Bushes at the Bottom of the Garden. The number entitled With Her Head Tucked Under Her Arm featured Olivetti and Carver and must be seen to be believed.

The Drunkard is the one hundred and twenty-second production of the Trouper of the Gold Coast and will be performed at the First Theatre every Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 o'clock during its current run.—E.M.

Council Recommends On Crawford Dune Land Subdivision

(Continued from Page One) instead of use permits to vary the 80-foot frontage requirement in the business district and on a second ordinance which would establish criteria for issuance of use permits and variance permits.

Advanced Policemen Walter S. Bailey and Virgil P. Chamberlain, the first to Step 4, Range 25, the second to Step 3, Range 25.

Allowed installation of stop signs at the intersection of San Antonio and Eighth.

Decided deadline for placing items on a city council meeting agenda shall be 5:00 o'clock on the Friday afternoon preceding the meeting.

Permitted planting of seven trees (five on Junipero, two on Fourth) in the vicinity of the Youth Center.

Decided the council may issue use permits without remanding them to the planning commission when appeals against planning commission decisions of such permits are upheld, unless new facts which have not been considered by the commission arise.

quisition of greenbelt areas.

Mayor Eben Whittlesey joined Councilmen Frank Putnam and Francis Whitaker to vote yes on the measure. Councilmen Herbert Blanks and James Buffington voted no, the former saying he objected to the tie-in with off-street parking, and the latter indicating a preference for a two per cent tax as called for in the unamended report.

The report itself, prepared by Whittlesey and Whitaker, warned that the state might soon enter the motel tax field and went on to say that "Carmel, through natural deterioration of its public facilities from age, combined with ever-increasing demands upon its municipal services, is becoming impoverished to such an extent that without substantially raising the property tax or finding new sources of revenue, it cannot even equip or make use of certain capital assets already in its possession, let alone provide for inevitable future needs."

The report incorporated a study made by City Clerk-Controller L. D. Rose in April last year showing a projected $70,000 per year gross income from a four per cent levy.

Objections raised over the issue last night ranged all the way from the charge made many times before by the innkeepers that the tax would be discriminatory, to a picture painted by Rose of the difficulties of collecting the tax from lodging houses. This might, he seemed to think, require a substantial number of "revenue officers" to seek out the lodgings and "involve us in situations like the plots of those bad English comedies put on by ailing theaters."

And anyway, Rose said, by taxing these businesses which are not licensed as businesses but operate under permit, we are giving our tacit approval to their existence. (Use and abuse of rooming house practices in Carmel has long been a subject of discussion in city councils.)

Mayor Whittlesey said "it requires a certain refinement to see that by failure to tax a group you are indicating your disapproval," and the council voted an amendment to include in the proposed ordinance the lodging houses, which had been excluded in the original report.

In a 20-minute talk period granted by the mayor to the motelmen and others in the audience prior to council discussion, the following speakers appeared:

Roland Martin, president of the Carmel Motel Association, who said the 43 members of the CMA hold some $12 to $15 million in property value in Carmel, constituting the largest single group of property owners and tax payers. At their last meeting, he said, this group had "unanimously, wholeheartedly and enthusiastically" gone on record against the motel tax. "To be singled out as the subject of a discriminatory tax cannot be anything but unfair," he said, "to a profession old and honorable and which dates back to biblical times. Taxation without representation is unfair, but how much more serious would it be to have taxation with discrimination."

Carl Bosholm, operator of the Svendsgaard Lodge, who said, "We provide between three and four four hundred parking places or about $1 1/2 million worth of off-street parking already to guests who park there and walk to town, adding nothing to the Carmel traffic problem."

Ken Brown, operator of the Village Inn, who said, "This tax will be helping our competition over the hill. Why should a city as wealthy as Carmel have to tax rooms?"

Juanita Der Zakarian of Monte Verde Inn, who suggested parking meters as an alternative, "and if you don't want to charge residents for parking, they could be issued seals to be used on the meters and only those without the seals would have to pay for parking."

Thompson McCrea of the Tally Ho Inn, who cited the resentment he said has arisen in other cities where a similar tax has been levied. "It has been repealed in about 40 of them," he said.

Robert Strum, of 13th and San Carlos, who said, "The point was raised in the report that this would become state-wide is worth consideration. I believe the people who are being taxed are not the owners but the people who are going to stay overnight here and I cannot see how such a tax could keep anyone away from such a fine place as Carmel."

Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN, Ret.), chairman of the Carmel Citizens Committee, who said on his recent trip to Vancouver and the Northwest he frequently found three and four per cent tax on his hotel and motel bills and had inquired many times of the innkeepers whether they had noticed diminution in patronage after the tax was levied, each time receiving assurance it had not. "Without financing," he said, "Carmel's general plan is nothing but words on paper."

Whitaker moved the adoption of the report and Putnam seconded his action. The former said that for nearly 10 years "I have wrestled with the problem of capital outlay expenditure for the city. I have seen sources of revenue created and then absorbed by current operating expenses. The attractive thing about this is it would be earmarked for improvements. The corporation yard was a disgrace to the city ten years ago and it's still a disgrace. This is a first step toward solving the problems of this city."

Putnam made both the amendments upping the tax to four per cent and including private rooming houses in the measure, later separating the two items so they could be voted on separately.

When Blanks, at one point in the procedure, tentatively suggested some of the money be earmarked for maintenance as well as purchase of the greenbelt-park land, Rose warned that such a "loose" provision might eat up tax money when maintenance should properly come from operating expenses. "I want Councilman Blanks to recognize a camel when he puts his head under the tent," Rose said. "This would be a danger to the purpose of the ordinance and it should be recognized as such."

Henry White

Henry James White, a resident of Carmel Hills for the past several years and a pioneer Navy pilot whose first license was signed by Orville Wright, died of a heart attack last Thursday at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital where he had gone for a routine medical examination.

The last three years of Pal's life, he lived with Mr. Mederos who judged Pal too old to frequent his usual haunts and sleep on sidewalks, and so gave him tender care at the Mederos home. When Pal died, Mr. Mederos erected the memorial at the Forest Theater.

On a visit to the Pine Cone yesterday, Mr. Mederos, reminisced about the days when he was known as "Mr. S.P.C.A." of the Monterey Peninsula. He also recalled the community party for Pal at Deendorf Plaza given by the Tailwaggers organization founded by Irene Castle.

"I still have the medal Pal was given at the party," he reported and added that Pal, the night following the celebration, was the sole occupant of a room at one of Carmel's finest hotels, the stay presented as a gift to the city's beloved mongrel.

And why was Pal so honored? He had put out a fire discovered in his rambles about town.

United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

He learned to fly a plane as early as 1911, and was assigned the aviation number 248. At one point in his flying career, he was Charles Lindbergh's instructor for seaplane operation.

Mr. White served as a Naval officer through World Wars I and II, from 1916 to 1920, and from 1940 to 1945. During his long career in private industry, he worked in Europe and in South America for Lockheed, Mack Truck, and Soscony Vacuum, and was for a time a test pilot for Sikorsky.

In addition to his flying interests, Mr. White was an inventor and a linguist, and as the former has contributed work on improved spark plugs and propellers for aircraft.

In 1940 he was named Naval Air attaché for Berlin and was interned for six months by the Germans at the start of the war. Later he served on Guadalcanal and in the New Hebrides and as commander of Ream Air Force Base. Among his decorations is the Liberation Medal of Norway bestowed by King Haakon VII.

Facile in both German and Spanish, as well as several other foreign languages, Mr. White is credited with translating into English some of the early work of German rocket expert Wehrner von Braun. The airmen was also assigned by the Baltimore Sun to the 1940 Summit conference in Havana.

Among Mr. White's local organizations were the Navy League, the Carmel Associated Sportsmen and the Fort Ord Flying Club. He continued active as a fully qualified pilot, and held a license issued last year.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Kathleen White of Carmel Hills; a son, Henry J. White, Jr., of Hamilton, Bermuda; a brother, Walter W. White of Washington, D.C., and Santa Barbara; and a sister, Mrs. Norman Schaff of Baltimore.

Friends wishing to memorialize Mr. White may send contributions to the Monterey County Heart Association, 777 Cass Street, Monterey.

No local funeral services were planned. *

FOREST FIRE REGULATIONS

Fire prevention regulations are now in effect in Los Padres National Forest, according to Supervisor William H. Hansen. Smoking is permitted in designated areas only; burning and campfire permits are required; and no tracer ammunition or fireworks will be allowed in the forest. Lookout and fire personnel have been on duty since early May because of hazardous burning conditions, he adds.

BAN SLEEPING ON GROUND

The Monterey County Health Department warns campers not to sleep on the ground because of the danger of being bitten by rabid skunks. Also it is now against the law to keep wild skunks for pets because of the danger of their developing rabies after capture; also to capture, buy, harbor, sell or give away these animals in California.

Council Deadlock Upholds Doud-Watson Subdivision Permit

(Continued from Page One) Attorney Morse, the council voted on a motion to reverse the planning commission's use permit decision. The vote on this was No. Putnam and Buffington; Yes, Whittlesey and Whitaker.

The Doud-Watson land is three-fourths of an original 16,000 square foot lot which extended from Scenic Drive to Del Mar Avenue. The city abandoned Del Mar Avenue, thus cutting off access to the property on the west. Since then one-fourth of the original lot has been designated as a legal building site. Miss Doud and Mrs. Watson were granted a use permit to similarly divide their land into three 4,000 square feet building sites with access to the two beachside sites over a ten-foot easement along the south side of the site fronting on Scenic Drive south of Eighth.

Residents adjacent to the Doud land appealed against this decision.

Mr. Smith said this morning that the appellants will go to court about the subdivision use permit. He claims the planning commission "acted illegally" in granting the 10-foot easement which makes the upper lot only 3,000 square feet in size. He will file an action next week, he stated.
